Fiesta Success Brings Plans For 1936 Show

High Praise Accorded First Annual Show Of S. M. County

With plans already being formulated in minds of exhibitors and officials for a bigger and more extensive fiesta next year, workers were dismanteling exhibits at Bay Meadows Monday following conclusion of the three-day products and floral display for which only praise was being heard from all who attended.

The thousands of blooms which represented San Mateo county's large floral industry were being sent to many peninsula hospitals to cheer inmates. The vegetables and fruit displayed in the agricultural section were being distributed to a dozen or so charitable institutions, according to Manager Merritt Vinson.

BETTER FLOWER DISPLAYS

Next year's display, according to Vinson, will be much finer than this year's exhibit, since growers, who plant flowers from November to February, had no knowledge of the display until summer, but for the coming year can start planting and developing stock at once.

Fiesta committeemen were discussing enlarging the event next year to include other products, making the display into more of a fair than fiesta.

Several manufacturers who did not buy exhibition space this year have indicated they will next time, officials said.

FINANCIAL SUCCESS

While exact attendance figures are not expected to be available for a day or so, Treasurer Elmer Roberts said he felt assured the fiesta would prove to be a financial success. The committee will meet tomorrow night in fiesta headquarters in San Mateo, at which time final reports, it is expected, will be given.

Throughout the show, enormous crowds witnessed the pageant and yesterday's polo games. Last night the grandstands, as on every other evening, were practically full.

Giving official recognition of the part played by President George Davis and his fiesta committee, the board of supervisors this morning passed a resolution expressing appreciation of the work done.

CONGRESSMEN ATTEND

Feature of Sunday's session was appearance of Rep. John J. O'Conner of New York, chairman of the house rules committee and prospective speaker. He presented the polo trophy at the fiesta. He was accompanied by Congressman John J. McGrath. Governor Merriam attended on Saturday.

BUYERS BEWARE

As an unscheduled, but not altogether unexpected, event of the current Newspaper Week, The Tribune Wednesday secured new member for its staff. And therein, Mr. Prospective Advertiser, hangs a warning!

For the new member of the "Fourth Estate" is none other than Michael Cullen McQueen, aged less than one day, weight seven and a half pounds, but already possessed of a lusty set of lungs designed to power a voice which will convince even the most skeptical that Tribune advertising pays.

"Mike," as everybody already knows the genial new newspaperman, has as parents George McQueen, advertising manager of The Tribune, and his wife, the former Miss Mildred Cullen.

The new salesman (we'll have you know he's no baby) began his duties at 5:30 a.m. His first prospect was Mills Memorial Hospital, where his mother, and incidentally his father, had been awaiting his arrival some few hours through the night.

Since at last reports the new advertising man hadn't "sold" the hospital, but was determined to stay on the job until he does, he won't be among the staff showing the visiting public the interesting features of The Tribune during Newspaper Week. Both he and his mother are doing nicely, thank you.

TRULY BORN OF THE SEA--BUT NOW, PORTLESS CITY

[EDITORIAL]

Those who read the early history of Redwood City and learn that "15 vessels in a day set sail from Redwood City wharves"; that "Redwood City already became known (in 1851) as the Embarcadero (or shipping point) and enjoyed an unusually heavy traffic," and that "Redwood City was recognized as an important boatbuilding center," have reason to be puzzled by the neglect which has marked the harbor front.

Redwood City veritably was born of the sea with its founding dating back to the very beginnings of San Francisco, which, in 1848, was itself building the first commercial wharves—only three years ahead of the first white settlement here.

The city is proud of that record, and a placque, located in front of the library, duly records: "Seagoing Ships Launched Here for Lumber Trade in 1851."

Today—84 years later—with vastly greater opportunities for establishing a port at the waterfront, this same community with its colorful, interesting, early-day history has done nothing toward creating the commercial enterprise which will enliven the whole peninsula by bringing industries, jobs and payrolls to an area that badly needs them.

It will be said that the early activities were due to the thriving lumber trade. But in that regard it must be recalled that Redwood City was in the early days but a primitive scattered settlement of a few white residents, that San Francisco was but the crude beginning of what today is a metropolis, and that the now populous cities all along the peninsula were yet to come into existence.

If there were business and tonnage for a seaport of that day it certainly must be here today with a rich and far-flung peninsula to serve. Vast importations of lumber and oil—either of which should keep a specialized port busy—steel, pipe, heavy hardware, plumbing goods, sugar, paper, foodstuffs and general cargo, and the outgoing products of the peninsula and local manufactories, as well as the yield of the vast Santa Clara valley, together should make up shipments of cement, leather goods, canned goods, dried fruits, asbestos products, and other divertible tonnage, which should give assurance of business for a port. There is, in fact, every reason to believe from the studies by consulting engineers and surveys by federal engineers that port activity here would be profitable.

But the indispensable feature of a successful port enterprise—a public deep water terminal—must first be provided. It is up to those charged with port responsibility to bring about this development at once.

Funeral Rites Held For Junessa Dunham

Funeral services were held in San Francisco on Monday for Miss Junessa Dunham, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred J. Dunham of 713 Adams street and sister of Mrs. Evelyn Williams.

Miss Dunham, a native of San Francisco, died here Friday.

A. C. BOLDEMAN FREED

A. C. Boldeman, scion of the candy magnate and present San Mateo insurance salesman, today stood freed of technical charges of manslaughter in connection with the death of Albert J. Willing, 40, of Burlingame on October 9. Lack of evidence was given as reason for dismissal of the charges.

CENSORSHIP HELD CAUSE FOR STRIFE

Speech Freedom Could Have Prevented War In Africa, Claim

Present war conditions in Europe and Africa would not exist had the principal of freedom of the press and speech been preserved there as it has in America, Joseph R. Knowland, Oakland Tribune president-publisher, told the local Kiwanis Club yesterday. He added that freedom of speech, press and religion is the "bulwark of our country."

Once during the present administration, this right of the American people was attacked but was repulsed by the unison of publishers in a strictly non-partisan manner, Knowland stated. It was his belief that this right of American people would not again be attacked.

Speaking of the great news gathering agencies, such as Associated Press, the speaker told of how in the past this agency held working agreements with foreign press associations. Due to censorships now abroad, news agencies are compelled to set up their own agencies, manned with citizens of this country in order that news reports can be obtained correctly and without censorship.

Knowland traced the development of newspapers, both mechanically and editorially; developments which allow newspapers to present in a few minutes pictures of news events thousands of miles away.

In summing up the average newspaper, Knowland stated that it is always optimistic, stands for the best in the community which it represents, continually performs all types of community service and reflects the type of community in which it exists.

The present day publisher strives to produce a clean, decent newspaper and prints only well selected and written news, Knowland stated.

"We depend on the newspaper and the newspaper is always ready to give public service," claimed the publisher.

In closing, Knowland told the club to look to its newspaper as it merited every citizen's support.

The speaker was secured by Sam H. Winklebleck, publisher of The Tribune, as part of Newspaper Week observance. A special display of old San Mateo county newspapers was shown at the meeting. Winklebleck acted as chairman of the day. All newspaper publishers of the county were invited as guests.

Boy Slightly Hurt When Hit by Auto

Cuts on his elbow and head were suffered by 8-year-old Robert Cogger, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Cogger of 5 Chestnut street, Redwood City, when at 6:05 p.m. Tuesday he was hit by the machine of H. J. Johnson, 46 Devonshire avenue, Dumbarton Oaks.

The accident happened on El Camino Real near Chestnut' when, according to witnesses, the boy crossing the street turned back in the center of the thoroughfare into the path of the motor car.

The child was rushed at once to a local doctor by Johnson. After treatment the youngster was returned to his home.

Paul Pallansch, Veteran, Passes At Local Home

Following a period of ill health, Paul E. Pallansch, 44, of 1226 Warren street, passed away Sunday.

A native of Flandreau, South Dakota, he had resided here for the past nine years. He was a veteran of the World War.

Besides his widow, Mrs. Genevieve Pallansch, he is survived by three daughters, Jean, Gloria, and Patricia Pallansch.

S. M. Woman Called In Car Death Quiz

SAN MATEO, Oct. 16—At an inquest into the death of Doris Simpson, 3, Mrs. H. Sattler of San Mateo, driver of the car which struck and injured the child so seriously she died Sunday, will be called to testify in Visalia today, it was reported by Tulare County Coroner A. E. Brooks. No charges have been filed against Mrs. Sattler, who had with her as a passenger, Mrs. A. W. Wishart of San Mateo. According to Mrs. Sattler the Visalia child ran directly into the path of the car.

Expert to Tell How to Lessen Kitchen Toil
Time and Labor Saving Methods to Be Told

What: Cooking School.
Dates: October 22 to 25.
Days: Tuesday to Friday.
Place: McKinley School.
Time: 2 to 4 p. m. daily.
Admission: Free.

With hundreds of free gifts to be offered for those attending the event, the Tribune's big 12th semi-annual Cooking School will open at the McKinley School auditorium next Tuesday. Classes will be conducted from 2 to 4 p. m. daily from Tuesday to Friday. Admission will be free.

Miss Hester Heath, noted and popular home economist, will again be in charge of the Tribune's school. She has been well accepted by Redwood City district housewives.

Miss Heath's programs will deal with means of emancipating the housewife from the drudgery and doldrums of the kitchen, and will offer suggestions which will heighten mealtime pleasure for those who must do all their own work.

Modern methods which will make cooking and housework more of an interesting job, and not arduous, 24-hour toil, will be stressed.

"I so sincerely feel," advised Miss Heath, "that cooking can be made a captivating adventure—a really worthwhile experience for the modern housewife. Nor is that all—the new and varied dishes will not only win their family's acclaim, but they can be made with ease and speed. I particularly endeavor to have my programs embrace the time-saving and effort saving elements of the modern kitchen and modern methods."

Housewives of the Redwood City district will find that each of the Happy Kitchen programs which will be held on October 22 to 25 will bring before them a wealth of new and fascinating menus—recipes that are inexpensive and yet will draw "curtain calls" and new applause from those that gather around the dinner table.

Miss Heath's programs are well-rounded, practical affairs. Her wide and varied experience in the home economics field has given her a keen insight to the modern housewife's problems. She is able to offer the young, inexperienced wife helpful hints on how to serve an appetizing and perfectly balanced meal with the minimum of effort, and she can also give cooking-minded women suggestions to arouse lagging appetites.

Miss Heath and The Tribune are looking forward with pleasure to presenting this series of cooking school classes at the McKinley school auditorium from 2 to 4 o'clock daily next Tuesday to Thursday.

MISS HESTER HEATH

Meal Planning Simplified With Refrigeration

Clever meal planning and smart food buying are the most discussed topics of the day. And with so much attention being given to these subjects, certain remarks made by Mr. E. L. Rice of the Good Housekeeping Store, local Westinghouse refrigerator dealers, would seem particularly timely and of unusual interest to all thrifty houeswives with a food budget problem.

"Every experienced homemaker knows," said Mr. Rice, "that the planning of meals is both difficult and expensive when she hasn't good, dependable refrigeration to keep her perishable foods. Foods are constantly spoiling—she has to buy on the day-to-day basis—she has to buy in the smallest quantities at a big premium in price. In fact, the amount she loses through food spoilage and paying exorbitant prices for what she buys, runs up into a very sizable sum of money, every month in the year."

Mr. Rice pointed out that with new electric refrigeration all these difficulties are quickly eliminated. Foods keep at their best almost indefinitely—there is ample room for an entire week's supply of perishables, if needed—you can shop for food less frequently, buy more at the week-end "bargain" prices—buy in larger quantities, also—use what left-overs you have in any one of dozens of delicious salads, desserts or meat dishes.

WILSEY OFF TO CONCLAVE

SAN MATEO, Oct. 17. — City Manager E. P. Wilsey left last night for the city managers' convention to be held October 21 to 24 in Knoxville, Tenn. During his absence W. B. Soule will be acting manager.

GRAHAM CRACKER CAMPAIGN OPENS

With schooldays here and the holidays just around the corner, marking the advent of the season for enlarged demand for graham crackers and tasty foods that go with them, an aggressive campaign in the Redwood City Tribune has just been released on Honey Maid Grahams, one of the popular brands of the National Biscuit Company.

What is believed to be a "natural" idea has been selected as the theme for this advertising on Honey Maids. The appeal, addressed to mothers of children of all ages headlines the thought "Their Future Is in Your Hands." Illustrations of dramatic interest are tied in with the text. The campaign will extend over a considerable period, and local grocers are arranging displays in connection with it.

When you want to get away from your old stand-bys in the cake-making field, just get out the box of Honey Maid Graham Crackers for a new adventure. They lend a delicious nut-like flavor to many cakes and here is a novel recipe for Clubhouse Cheese Cake that makes a hit with everyone:

Clubhouse Cheese Cake

Crust

20 Sugar Honey Maid Graham Crackers
¼ cup butter
1-3 cup butter

Filling

½ cup sugar
1 tablespoon flour
¼ teaspoon salt
½ lb. cream cheese or cottage cheese (put through a ricer)
1 teaspoon vanilla
2 eggs
½ cup cream

Crumble the crackers fine and mix with soft butter and 1-3 cup sugar. Reserve ¼ cup of this mixture. Line deep buttered pie plate or small spring form with remainder, pressing mixture firmly with fingers against sides and bottom of pan.

Then mix ½ cup sugar, flour and salt and blend thoroughly with cheese. Add vanilla and yolks of eggs and beat; add cream and mix again. Fold in beaten egg whites. Pour mixture into crumb-lined pan. Spread with the remaining crumbs. Bake in a moderate oven (350°F) until center is set, about ¾ hour. A marvelous cheese cake; 6 portions. Preparation, 10 minutes.

3-Car Collision Brings $70,000 Damage Action

A three-car crash which occurred a few miles north of Redwood City on the Bayshore highway after last year's Stanford-California "Big Game" today reverberated in San Francisco Superior Court with a cross fire of damage suits involving more than $70,000.

The accident occurred when the car bearing E. J. Schmaling and his sister, Mrs. Edith Ashley of Palo Alto, collided with one driven by Jack Viersen, San Mateo, with whom Miss Annie Pattie and Walter Mills were riding. A few moments later another driven by William Hespelt of San Francisco crashed into the other two.

A total of $65,000 was asked by the occupants of the Viersen car from Schmaling and Hespelt through Attorney Phillip Barnett. Schmaling answered by demanding $5,000 from Viersen.

The bones in canned salmon are softened by heating the sealed cans to a high temperature under pressure. The process also kills spoilage bacteria.

Civic Leaguers Question Need of WPA bureau

328 Jobs to End Dole Delayed Pending Port Decision

Vigorous protest to the increase in county bureaucracy by creating the new post of WPA coordinator at an estimated cost of $10,000 was voiced Monday by Matthew A. Harris, vice president of the new San Mateo County Civic League, who said increased costs of government were driving the people to "tax strikes" or "consolidation with San Francisco."

Supervisor Albert Witt Jr., Colma, answered Harris by stating that he resented the appearance of Mr. Harris, and said the new WPA bureau, over which W. W. Hendricks is to preside, is necessary to secure a just proportion of WPA funds for San Mateo county.

Harris replied that he believed that with an engineer, planning advisor, planning engineer, county executive, publicity director, and purchasing agent, and WPA managers in San Mateo county, San Jose and San Francisco, there would be nothing for Hendricks to do.

CALLED "POLITICAL JOB"

He charged that the bureau was "one of the political jobs created for political ends," and said the "confusion and bewilderment" among engineering employes which made the extra help necessary, was the "board's business to straighten out."

Harris told the board that if there was an extra $10,000 in the treasury for a co-ordinator that this money would be better spent if applied to higher wages on relief projects.

Percy Shaw, president of the new league, voiced similar objection to the new bureau.

Witt maintained that the bureau was necessary because of alleged incompetency by County Engineer Carl Scott.

WPA WORK BLOCKED

While the argument raged, the board let pass an opportunity to start WPA projects within another week.

County WPA Manager James S. James informed the board that six projects were ready to start by next Monday. These six projects, to cost $75,064, would immediately take 328 men off direct dole and put them to useful employment.

James said that he had been instructed to proceed with these jobs on the metropolitan security wages which have been approved, and that the additional union scale could be adopted later.

"Prevailing wage (union scale) must not prevent getting people off relief," James was advised by WPA officials.

The board, however, declined to authorize the start of the WPA projects until a decision had been made whether or not union wages would be paid.

ROLISON PLEA FAILS

City Manager E. A. Rolison of Redwood City appeared to request $600 additional county funds to take care of half of the $1,200 increased cost on the Woodside culvert under the metropolitan security wage. He said the city would raise the other $600.

This would permit start of work Monday on Unit B of the Woodside road ditch, to cost $11,541 and to give 88 men employment for one month.

Supervisor John Poole, Redwood City, backed up Rolison in pointing out the emergency of the project in that rains were causing the excavation to collapse.

Supervisor Witt, however, blocked the appropriation, saying it would set a precedent which would have to be followed on increased costs on all other WPA work. The funds likely will be forthcoming next week, however.

J. F. Cambiano, union agent, said the men would not go to work on the metropolitan wage scale.

The other five projects held up included $1,981 for the Hoover school (Burlingame) grounds; $7,615 for the South Burlingame sewers; $8,779 for the Terrace Creek culvert; $12,723 for California drive, Burlingame, and $32,425 for Unit C of the Woodside road.

Mrs. Sarah Winchester believed that death would never take her so long as her home remained unfinished, so she kept adding rooms to it. On her death in 1922, her Santa Clara home contained 160 rooms.

S. J. Firemen Spread Word of Benefit Ball

J. V. O'Day and Al Anderson, members of the San Jose Fire Department, were in Redwood City today telling local firemen of their dance October 31 at Auditorium Rink, San Jose, for the benefit of the Widows and Orphans' Aid Society. Lionel Hampton's radio and motion picture orchestra has been secured for the affair, admission to which will be $1. The general public is invited, according to O'Day and Anderson.

MENLO PARK NEWS

James D. O'Kane left this week on a pleasure trip to New York. Mr. O'Kane expects to be gone a month.

Father McKean is preparing a class for confirmation. The ceremony will take place in December. The class has a membership of 200. The Rev. Smith of the Episcopal church is also instructing a number of boys and girls for the sacrament that is to be conferred next month.

Mr. and Mrs. W. K. White departed this week for New York. The White estate fronts on Oak Grove avenue, but is not in the city limits, being a unit of the county.

The rainfall for the last storm was one half of an inch, making a total of .96 of an inch for the season. This total is three times as much as it was this time last year.

Mrs. George Angus, one of the clever and beautiful young matrons of Atherton, entertained the members of the home section of the Menlo Park Parent-Teacher Association at her home on Winchester Drive Tuesday evening.

Menlo Park American Legion Post No. 443 and Auxiliary held a joint meeting in Legion Hall Wednesday night. Fire Chief Cuff was guest speaker and he gave an interesting talk on fire prevention. Refreshments were served by the post.

The Past Presidents' Association of San Mateo County met at the home of Mrs. Clarence Junker in Redwood City Thursday night. Frances Maloney of Menlo Park parlor is president of the association and she attended with several members from Menlo Park.

Mr. and Mrs. Jake Knaff and Miss Leona Ross of Tacoma, Wash., spent the day with Wayne and Oscar Lindquist. They were returning to Tacoma after motoring to San Diego to visit the exposition.

Mrs. George E. Murphy and Mrs. Ray E. Tinney of Palo Alto were hostesses at the St. Joseph monthly card party which was held Thursday in the Hall of the Nativity.

Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Bearce and their son, Paul, and Mrs. Frank W. Johnson of Menlo Park passed the week-end in Ukiah with Mr. and Mrs. Francis Johnson. Mrs. Francis Johnson was Miss Esther Bearce before her marriage this summer.

Herbert Fleishhacker Jr. was host at a dinner party at his Atherton home Saturday in celebration of his birthday. He and James Flood Jr. recently returned after a big game hunt in Alaska.

John Beltramo is harvesting his large crop of grapes for which he finds ready sale at good prices. Mr. Beltramo is one of the best known grape experts in the state. He came to Menlo Park as a young man to superintend the vineyards of the late John T. Doyle here and at Cupertino. Mr. Beltramo had charge of the vineyards until after the death of Mr. Doyle many years ago.

CITY WINS PRAISE FOR FIESTA PART

Heads of Active List Of Participants Are Presented

Appreciation for the large part played by Redwood City in the first annual San Mateo County Products and Floral Fiesta at San Mateo was expressed today to Mayor Charles G. Lambert by George J. Davis, fiesta president.

Redwood City, through Mayor Lambert and others, gave wholeheartedly of its time and support to assure success of the undertaking at San Mateo.

Mayor Lambert's part included a KYA broadcast calling wide attention to the fiesta prior to its opening and also several speeches at the fiesta. As a member of the advisory committee, Mayor Lambert spent many days and nights working out the details of the show.

Wholehearted support given by Lambert was based upon a desire for county unity and the hope that when Redwood City plans some undertaking, such as the harbor, it will be given proper support from its neighboring cities.

Others from Redwood City who were actively responsible for the success of the show included County Executive Walter Kellogg, who with Publicity Director William McCarthy conceived the fiesta; Mrs. F. M. Perkins, member of the board of directors and in charge of the rare bird and fish exhibit; Max Leonard, agricultural commissioner, who directed the agricultural phase of the fiesta; Bert Werder, fire warden, who gathered the tanbark to create the redwood forest at Bay Meadows, and Roscoe Wyatt, of the chamber of commerce and others who participated in preparing the city's float; Otis Carrington, who directed the choral group of Sequoia in the pageant; Vera Jansen and others who directed the Sequoia "Dance of the Chrysanthemums;" Charlotte Rider, who assisted the director in presenting the pageant and who took the part of Daphne (a Goddess) in the cast; Adelaide Butts, who headed Redwood City school participation; Gene Nagel, whose McKinley pupils had the only art exhibit, and others.

Redwood City Japanese florists captured many honors in the chrysanthemum division. The California Chrysanthemum Growers captured first honors for any type, any color, display.

Mrs. A. W. Pike of Redwood City drew praise for her clever exhibition of riding.

Early City Days Recalled

Gazette, Oldest County Paper, Unfolds Past

Seaport Was Busy Scene

Tracing its history back to the arrival of a few loosely knit settlers, the San Mateo County Gazette, now called the Times-Gazette, holds the distinction of being one of the oldest newspapers in point of continuous publication in California.

A copy of the first issue, bearing date of April 9, 1859, is now on exhibit during Newspaper Week at The Tribune office and may be viewed by the public.

The Gazette's founding preceded by two years and three days the bombardment by the Confederate forces of Fort Sumter in Charleston harbor which marked the opening of the Civil War.

It came into existence three years after the formal legal incorporation of the new County of San Mateo. The county's organization occurred by act of the legislature of April 19, 1856, when State Senator Horace Hawes, after whom Hawes Park is named, introduced the bill in the state legislature. But certain irregularities in the act forced State Senator T. G. Phelps to introduce a new bill which was passed on April 18, 1857, and properly marks the legal organization of San Mateo county.

EARLY DAY HISTORY

The first American settlement of Redwood City began in 1851 with the erection of a small house opposite the Bridge Street Landing by Capt. A. Smith. G. H. Burnham then started a shipbuilding yard, and was soon followed by others in the same line of activity, so that Redwood City became recognized as an important boatbuilding center.

It was already known as the Embarcadero—or shipping point—and enjoyed an unusually heavy traffic in lumber through Redwood creek.

FOUNDED BY GODFREY

The Gazette was founded by William Godfrey, and issued on Saturdays. It was a four-page affair of tabloid size, measuring 13 by 19 inches, and allowing for five columns of 13½-em width.

Usually the front page was given over to humorous stories and clippings from the few exchanges which the limited contacts made possible. County news was scarce as was every other type, Editor Godfrey in the first issue declaring that "the Overland Mail, with St. Louis dated to the 14th, has arrived, but it brings no news of importance, and that which was received by steamer, has become too stale for our use."

Page 2 was given over generously to editorial use, the subjects covering the introduction of the new journal to the public, a description of San Mateo county, and an editorial on the "New Schooners."

The editorial—oddly enough—dealt with seaport activity in Redwood City, and called the readers' attention to the fact that "six ship carpenters were busily engaged in constructing the largest schooner ever built in California."

THINGS ADVERTISED

Columns 4 and 5 of Pages 2 and 3 were given over to advertisements, with saloons, liquor stores, livery stables, hotels, and blacksmith and wagon makers taking up most of the space. Also offered were many patent medicine remedies for hair restoration, rheumatism, internal disorders, and the like.

Businessmen of the day included Charles Ayres, who ran the Pioneer Bakery on Main street; S. M. Mezes, who later platted Redwood City, dealer in farm and grazing lands; J. V. Diller, general merchandise; Tripp & Parkhurst, who ran the Woodside store, and Davis & Maxfield, proprietors of the Searsville Hotel.

County officers were B. F. Fox, county judge; C. N. Fox, district attorney; B. G. Lathrop, county clerk and recorder; John W. Ackerson, sheriff; Curtis Baird, treasurer; A. T. McClure, coroner; R. O. Tripp, public administrator, and Alex Garbi, surveyor.

ITEMS OF THE DAY

News of the day recorded:

Six persons perished when the steamer Contra Costa, plying between San Francisco and Oakland, blew up;

The assembly killed a bill proposing to move the capital to Oakland, and refused to authorize the erection of a capitol at Sacramento;

The Overland Mail from San Francisco met with an accident in crossing a stream at Pacheco Pass "and three horses were drowned, etc.;"

Citizens of Santa Clara county met at San Jose to subscribe to railroad stock to construct a San Francisco-San Jose railroad;

Fifteen vessels in a day set sail from Redwood City wharves with lumber, shingles and posts;

The Union Cemetery Association was formed and funds were being raised to fence the property.

Present-day conflict between Italy and Ethiopia makes interesting an item telling of the departure of County Surveyor Alex Garbi for Italy so that he could aid the king of Sardinia in the allied French-Sardinian conflict with Austria in the Italian war of 1859-61.

Political disputes of the present day also bring to light that they are nothing new, the editor decrying the lack of news, and declaring: "The moment we open an exchange, our eyes are saluted by startling headlines of political conventions, political victories, political squabbles, political squibs, political lampoonery, etc."

Taxes, too, were the subject of discussion, the Gazette publishing an exchange from the New Orleans Picayune, which said: "Nobody grumbles more about paying their taxes than those who can best afford to pay them; and as a general thing, they are never assessed half so justly and fairly as their poorer neighbors."

OTHER EXHIBITS OFFERED

Rivaling the Gazette for "age" is the present San Francisco Call-Bulletin, founded in 1856, the only bay paper bearing an earlier date. The San Francisco Chronicle came into existence in 1865; the Oakland Tribune in 1874; the San Francisco Examiner in 1886, and the San Francisco Daily News in 1903.

COMEDY OFFERING AT SEQUOIA HIGH

'Whistling in Dark,' Gang Plot Story, Begins at 8

Sequoia players tomorrow will present the production, "Whistling in the Dark," to be given in the Sequoia Union High School auditorium promptly at 8 o'clock.

A special students' matinee was given this afternoon, and judging by the hilarious laughter echoing from the auditorium, the play is a sure-fire hit.

The plot concerns the unfortunate Wallace Porter, a famous novelist, who is held with his fiancee by a gang of notorious gangsters until Porter devises plans for a 'perfect crime' for the gang to use. The way in which he does this will afford many amusing moments, according to students working on the play.

The complete cast includes Russell Newman as the unfortunate victim; Robert Bettencourt, as the gang leader; Joe Maxwell, Michael Cheney, George McCarron, Byrne Pike, Bud Theus, Arthur Lyons and Milton Abbot, as members of the gang; Charlotte Morisette as Porter's fiancee, and Maureen Walsh as the gang's housekeeper and Andre de Bourginon.

Much hard work and effort has been put forth in the preparation of this play.

Tickets are 40 cents and may be obtained from student ticket sellers, from the Variety Shop or at the auditorium tomorrow.

Preacher Appeals Suspended Sentence

Although he was fined only $10 and the sentence was suspended when he was convicted by Hillsborough Judge Robert H. McWilliams of disturbing the peace, W. A. Miller, evangelist and itinerant preacher, has appealed his conviction to superior court through J. W. O'Neil, attorney. Miller was arrested on complaint of Hillsborough residents for operating a loudspeaker in the exclusive residential district.

Crippling Brings $50,000 Damage Suit

Being rendered a permanent cripple in a truck-street car accident July 14 in Daly City today had resulted in 19-year-old Joseph Hines suing the Market Street Railway for $50,700 damages in superior court here.

The accident occurred July 14 when young Hines, represented in the action by Attorney Frank B. Thompson of San Francisco, was riding in the truck of Carl Jespersen.

'Y' Sets Rally For Burlingame On Friday Night

The annual Young Men's Christian Association camp rally for the boys of the peninsula branch will be held in Burlingame at the First Methodist Church on Friday, October 18, at 7:30 p.m.

The committee in charge has planned an excellent program. There will be no dinner this year. Instead, the program will be designed like a regular campfire program.

Starting at 7:30, there will be songs and music under the direction of Ray Matthai. A special edition of the Redwood Log is being prepared by the editors. Bert Werder will tell the camp story, and Howard Matthai will read a special edition of Paul Bunyon. The "Y" committee is planning a motion picture.

A complete copy of the Redwood Log will be distributed to every camper present. There will be no charge and parents are cordially invited to attend.

$27,000 HOME SOLD

The Hillsborough home in the Brewer addition of Hillsborough of Mr. and Mrs. Carl A. Livingston has been sold to Mr. and Mrs. Clarence R. Johnson for $27,000, filing of the deed in Recorder T. C. Rice's office disclosed.

TORRENTIAL RAIN DAMAGES FLOWER CROP

Storm Brings Heavy Fall of .74 inch In Early Visit

Rain and hail of torrential proportions which left .74 inch of precipitation here in a half hour early on Tuesday to bring the total to date to 1.85 inches, the greatest for this time of year since 1924, did much good to crops but damaged chrysanthemums considerably, according to reports reaching County Agricultural Commissioner Max Leonard's office.

Described by many Redwood City people as the hardest rain ever witnessed, the cloudburst—for such it was believed to be—accompanied by thunder and lightning, taxed storm sewers to capacity and flooded basements, reports disclosed. Otherwise, however, no material damage was believed done. Small inconsquential slides occurred on several county roads.

ROT MIGHT SET IN

Should clear weather ensue, as promised today in the United States Weather Bureau's report of "fair tonight and Wednesday," no great damage will be done to the chrysanthemum crop, now at the height of the season, Leonard believes. However, should rains continue, or the weather remain damp, rot might set in. As it is, considerable breakage has occurred of the larger blooms.

Bad weather here and also in the East has caused the price of chrysanthemumms to go up materially, Leonard said he had learned. Shipments of the blooms from Redwood City today amounted to only a quarter the amount sent out last Friday, he reported. Only growers are shipping, dealers being unable to secure any flowers.

Lettuce on the coastside and tomatoes on the coast and in the East Palo Alto district have suffered to some extent.

AHEAD OF LAST YEAR

Last year at this time only .18 inch of rain had been received here. In 1924 2.69 inches was recorded during October.

According to the United Press, the storm lashed the Pacific seaboard from Seattle to San Diego. One man was dead, one missing and damage estimated at half a million dollars was done in the state.

Temperatures descended throughout the state, and snow fell at Mt. Hamilton and in the Sierras and Cascades above the 4000 to 5000 feet elevation.

Rainfall appeared heaviest in the Northern California region, particularly the Sacramento valley. Redding, Red Bluff and Sacramento experienced near cloudbursts.

Cat Fanciers' Show Set for November 10

Entries are now being taken for a Champion Cat Show, the first of its kind on the peninsula, to be held in Burlingame on November 10, Mrs. B. W. Wilson of Redwood City announced today.

The show is being benched under the rules of the Cat Fanciers' Association and is being managed by Mrs. Doris E. Reid, 1327 Carlos avenue, Burlingame. It will be judged by B. W. Wilson of Redwood City.

Both long and shot hairs, alleys and persians are eligible for showing. Many blue ribbons, cups, cash prizes and other premiums will be awarded. Any cat of one solid color, blue, black, while, red or cream may be entered in the shok.

Owners may enter their cats by telephoning either Mrs. Reid at Burlingame 4541-W or Mrs. Rosenthal at Redwood City 1003.

At the sacred crocodile pool in Karachi, worshipers dye their foreheads red and salaam to the oldest reptile whenever it appears on the surface.

BOARD VOTES $5000 TO AID JURY PROBE

Sheriff Given Control As Ferrell Offers No Protest

Without comment, the board of supervisors Monday appropriated $5000 to the San Mateo County Grand Jury to undertake the county-wide inquiry into gambling and politics.

District Attorney Gilbert Ferrell, whose resolution last week attempting to set the $5000 into a "District Attorney Special Investigation Fund," was blocked by jury members, offered no protest to the change which gave the control of the funds to Sheriff James J. McGrath.

The grand jury last Tuesday balked at Ferrell's handling of the inquiry fund.

Ferrell's resolution today did not mention politics, dealing only with gambling, but jurors, including Ed Weisenburger who appeared today, said the investigation will go into county government controversies.

COURT HOUSE LIGHTING PLAN

The suggestion of the North Fair Oaks Improvement Club that the courthouse be flood-lighted at night so that it will not look like a "dead cemetery," as Charles Meinert, planning member, referred to it, was put off by the board today until County Executive Walter Kellogg finds funds for it.

Kellogg said that he has had the proposal in mind heretofore.

$1200 FUND VOTED VETERANS' HALL

The board approved the appropriation of $1200 to make certain improvements in the Veterans' Hall at Warren and Standish streets, as requested by the United Veteran Council.

The sum of $500 was voted toward the celebration Sunday of the groundbreaking for the livestock pavilion at Visitacion Valley.

Inspector Harry Arnold was paid $290 for his work on the Lobitos bridge project, with all five supervisors supporting the warrant after first rowing about it. Architect E. L. Norberg was paid $685 for his work on the courthouse and Community Hospital additions.

The board delayed approval of funds for repair of a bridge on the Bear Gulch to San Gregorio road, as requested by Attorney Lee T. Ross on behalf of certain ranch owners, after Supervisor Witt blocked Supervisor Poole's attempt to secure an emergency appropriation.

$20,792 Demanded In Two Lawsuits

Two damage suits, asking a total of $20,792 for alleged injuries in accidents on Skyline boulevard were on file today in superior court here.

"Carelessness and negligence" on the part of Mrs. Elizabeth Snork were charged by Mrs. Georgina Torkington in claiming $15,377 damages for injuries including a fractured arm and nervous shock, incurred in a car crash September 29.

The same charge was made but damages amounting to $5,415 were asked in the suit filed by P. L. Peterson, Colma garageman, for personal injuries, and repairs to his tow car. He sets forth William H. Brekle crashed into his tow car, injuring Peterson, October 14, 1934.

At a recent benefit dance given for a hospital in Los Angeles, free operations were offered as prizes.

Pioneer Portola Farmer, 81, Dies In S. M. Hospital

Ignacio Miramontes, who was born on the Miramontes ranch at Portola near the Portola church in November, 1854, and who has lived on the ranch ever since, died on Tuesday in Community Hospital after a short illness.

Member of the historic Miramontes family, the aged man spent his lifetime on the same ranch where his father was born.

Survivors include his widow, Mary Miramontes, and the following children: Mrs. Rose Gardemeyer, Mrs. Alice Fritz and Mrs. Minnie Jones of San Francisco. Mrs. George Riley and Mrs. Roy Springer of Palo Alto; Ignacio Miramontes Jr. of Portola; Henry Miramontes of Berkeley and Leonard Miramontes of Shreveport, La. The deceased was a great uncle of Frank C. Miramontes of 148 Birch street, Redwood city.

Funeral services will be held Thursday at 9 p.m. from the Tinney Funeral Home in Palo Alto. Requiem mass will follow at the St. Aloysius Church, Mayfield. Interment will take place in Holy Cross Cemetery, Menlo Park.

Stokes' Vacation Pictures Enjoyed

Colin Stokes, Exchangite, exhibited three interesting reels of films on a recent vacation jaunt to the Klamath and Rogue rivers, the Sierras, Lake Tahoe and Yosemite Park, at the Exchange Club meeting at Bertrand's last night. Wesley Locker was chairman. The club will meet at Bertrand's again next Tuesday.

SERA Expense $1,045,264.06 On Relief Jobs

McAloney Points Out High Percentage Of Completions

In a 14 months period, San Mateo county undertook 171 relief projects under the SERA program at a total cost of $1,045,264.06, Capt. L. G. McAloney, relief director, reported today.

The cost to San Mateo county was $290,333.72, and the cost to Sera, $754,930. The period covered is from July 3, 1934, to September 30, 1935.

Of these 171 projects, 103 were classified as "construction projects," of which 87 per cent were completed, at a total cost of $886,963.20. The 13 per cent remaining that were incomplete, represent 14 projects, four of which were over 90 per cent completed, and the balance only recently started at the beginning of the fall construction program.

There were 16 projects classified as "survey" and "technical," with 100 per cent completed, costing $31,662.07.

This makes a total of 88 per cent completed of these two classifications. The remaining approved projects were clerical, cafeteria assistants, library, musician, production (sewing and shoe repairing) classified as continuous projects, and were approved for a certain length of time, at the cost of a certain allotment of funds.

The total cost of projects under this classification amounted to $126,638.79.

This brings the entire SERA project expenditure to $1,045,264.06.

It can readily be seen that 90 per cent of the fund was expended entirely for necessary construction and survey projects, and the difference was expended for clerical help, cafeteria help, etc., which would not have been allowed in the county or school budgets, and for the production of commodities necessary to carry on the relief program, Captain McAloney said.

San Mateo county's work relief program during the SERA was carefully scrutinized as to the value of the projects to the community, before forwarding for approval to the state office, he said.

Both the plans and projects committee and the San Mateo county emergency relief committee studied the types of projects thoroughly before they were submitted for approval. As a result, the projects were of the highest social value, planned to be of the greatest efficiency and greatest social and economic benefit to the community, Captain McAloney said.

2 BADLY HURT IN CAR CRASH AS FOUR CITED

Many Others Injured In County Mishaps Over Week-end

Week-end traffic mishaps, one of them injuring 12 persons, accounted for four arrests and a number of injuries in San Mateo county.

Two of the 12 hurt on the crowded Bayshore highway near South San Francisco Sunday may die. They are Mrs. Mary Webb, 73, and Mrs. Mary Martin, both of San Francisco. Nick Gondolfo, driver of a produce truck which assertedly caused the crash, was being held under $250 bail, charged with reckless driving. Gondolfo's machine crashed into two others, it was reported, tieing up traffic for an hour.

Mrs. Webb suffered a severed jugular vein and cuts and bruises. Mrs. Martin suffered internal injuries and serious cuts. They were taken to Mills Memorial Hospital. All injured were from San Francisco.

In another accident near the same spot, Mrs. Sylvia Renata Conlan, wift of Superior Judge Conlan of San Francisco, suffered slight injuries Saturday afternoon when her car was hit from the rear by the machine of Lionel Cade, 16.

At 10:40 p. m. that night, Lee Gloster of Alturnas; R. H. Peterson of Santa Clara, and Mrs. Genevieve Crowe of San Francisco were slightly hurt when cars driven by H. M. Dorris, 30, of Alturas and Mary Pilkington, 29, Lomita Park, collided on El Camino Real near Lomita Park. Dorris was arrested, but later released on $100 bail, on charges of driving while intoxicated.

Earlier in the afternoon, Mrs. W. L. Meyers of San Francisco suffered a wrist injury and her mother, shoulder hurts, when their machine and that of Alice B. Zehender collided near Pedro Mountain.

Fuller Will Expend $15,000 on Factory

SOUTH SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 14.—W. P. Fuller & Company, pioneer South San Francisco paint firm, announced today that it will start construction immediately on a $15,000 two-story brick warehouse and shipping dock.

The improvement, according to John Cox, superintendent, will increase the operating facilities of the plant to enable it to keep pace with increasing orders.

Approximately 12,000 murders were committed in the United States during 1930. This is about 17 times the murder rate of England.

P. A. Man, Father Of Two Students, Commits Suicide

Apparently despondent over an illness with which he had been inflicted for several years, Bowers Bundy Boone, 46-year-old Palo Alto automobile salesman, committed suicide at 9 a. m. Monday by shooting himself at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. L. Boone, 430 Forest avenue, Palo Alto.

The dead man is survived by his parents, his widow, Gladys, two children, Betty, a Stanford student, and Robert, Palo Alto high school student, and two brothers and two sisters.

Boone, who attended Stanford with the class of 1915, left no note explaining his action.

Forgers of S. S. F. Firm's Bonds Sought

Investigations to apprehend the forgers of $25,000 in bonds among a genuine block of $550,000 retired October 1 by the Western Pipe & Steel Company, South San Francisco, was underway today following discovery of the fraud Saturday by the Bank of California.

Neither the bank nor the company, however, has suffered loss from the forgeries, which had been accepted by New York brokers. The brokers will suffer the loss unless the criminals are caught.

The forgeries were discovered when the outstanding bonds were presented for payment. They had been crudely printed, with Vice President William G. Aldenhagen's signature forged.

BUNGALOW COURT IS PLANNED HERE

$16,000 Expenditure By S. F. Men Seen In Six Houses

Rezoning of Lot 8 of block 2, Wellesley Park, on Wellesley street near El Camino Real to allow for the building of a six-unit bungalow court will be recommended to the city council at its meeting next Monday, the city planning commission decided at its meeting this week.

The commission also called a public hearing for October 28 at 8 p.m. in the firehouse on the proposition of zoning for business purposes lot 4 of block 2, Dingee Park, on Arch street, near the Broadway-Brewster intersection.

If the council accepts the commission's recommendation regarding the Wellesley avenue property, construction of the bungalows will be started at once, according to the office of Charles G. Lambert, Redwood City mayor-realtor, who represents a group of five young San Francisco men between the ages of 25 and 30, headed by G. M. Johnson, oil company accountant, who will build the court as an investment.

Plans call for four 4-room and two 5-room houses of pure Spanish design, of white stucco with full tile roofs. Total cost will be between $15,000 and $16,000, it is expected.

There's a lavish use of silk braid for trimming this season.

Tanforan Track Attendant Found Dead From Fall

Confronting officers with the second death for investigation this week, Fred Brown, about 55, employed at Tanforan race track, apparently committed suicide last night by jumping from the press box of the track grandstand to the floor below, a distance of about 50 feet.

Examination of Brown's body by a doctor revealed he died from a ruptured liver, Sheriff James J. McGrath, who investigated, said. He suffered several broken bones.

Brown, who lived alone in San Francisco and who had no known relatives, apparently leaped to his death about 7:30 p.m. McGrath learned that Brown had been despondent and had been drinking.

Heavy set, the man was familiarly known as "Brownie" around Tanforan. He was said to have been a former vaudeville actor.

The other death, that of Washington Clifton Morgan, found on the Skyline boulevard shot thru the chest with a blast from a shotgun, apparently has resolved itself into a case of suicide, Undersheriff Lawrence Nieri reported following questioning of the man's wife and stepdaughter in San Francisco.

Inquest into the death of Morgan, who was buried today at the National Cemetery in the San Francisco presidio, will be held Tuesday at the Lasswell Mortuary in Daly City, according to Coroner William Crosby.

Moffett Field's Use As Airship Base to Continue

Moffett Field, former home of the ill-fated navy dirigible Macon, will be occupied by the army's 19th airship squadron now stationed at Langley Field, Virginia, Maj. Gen Paul B. Malone, ninth corps area commander, announced today.

The Sunnyvale naval station recently was "swapped" by the navy for the army's base at Rockwell Field, San Diego. Army officers will take over jurisdiction of the base October 25.

Two non-rigid airships assigned to the Virginia squadron will be flown across the continent when the unit, comprising two officers and 179 enlisted men, is transferred to California.

Major General Malone said the 19th bombardment group, 14 officers and 279 men, now stationed at Rockwell Field, would be transferred north on or before October 20 to make way for the incoming navy forces.

U. S. BALL NINE STARTS JAPAN EXHIBITION TRIP

Eighteen amateur baseball stars of the United States were to board a liner this afternoon at San Francisco, destination Japan where they will meet Nippon university teams in 20 exhibition games.

Leslie Mann, former major league baseball star and at present executive vice president and secretary of the American Baseball Congress, will be in charge of the squad which will include Fred Heringer, Stanford varsity captain and pitcher last year and Al Gonzales, star hurler for the University of Southern California Trojans last season.

Heringer and Gonzales were recommended as team members by Harry Wolter, Stanford coach, who co-operated as western representative of the American Football Congress in the selection of players.

The trip will serve to awaken interest in Japan in sending a team to the 1936 Olympic Games. The Nipponese, in trying to shave Olympic Games expenses, have announced they may not send a baseball team to Berlin. It should also give the baseball committee of the United States Olympic Games general committee an idea of the baseball talent available for the 1936 Olympics. Many of the players leaving San Francisco on the Japanese tour probably will be on the official United States' nine at Berlin.

The squad includes one high school star. He is Jeff Heath of the Seattle High School, known as one of the most promising players in the Northwest.

Other members of the party are: Tyrus Wagner, captain of the Duke University team; Dick Offringer of Wyckoff, N. Y., catchers. George Simons, Philadelphia; Lou Briganti, Bronx, N. Y.; Hayes Pierce, Nashville; Joseph Copp, Springfield Ill.; George Adams, Fort Collins, Colo., pitchers; Bob Chiado, Spring Valley, Ill.; Les McNeece, Fort Lauderdale, Fla.; Frank Scalzi, University of Alabama and R. Goldsmith, Bloomington, Ill., infielders and R. Hubbard, Michigan and Emmett Fore, Houston, Texas,, outfielders.

The squad will return to this country about December 20.

INJURED STAR PLANNED PRO GRID CAREER

PALO ALTO, Oct. 17 (Special) The eye injury suffered last Saturday by Frank Alustiza, Stanford University halfback, not only will take him off the varsity team but will force him to give up plans for professional football after graduation from college.

While the reticent Basque gave no inkling of his football playing plans after leaving Stanford, friends of the player at Stockton, Frankie's home town, declared that Alustiza had planned to accept a professional contract in the East at the conclusion if his senior year, the Associated Press reported.

Other news from Stockton is that Fermin Alustiza, father of the injured player, will not object to Alfonso Alustiza playing football. The latter is a member of the Stanford freshman squad.

Physicians attending the Stanford star halfback have announced that an operation on the injured eye would not be necessary Frankie passed a reading test successfully yesterday and fears of blindness were dispelled. He will remain in the Palo Alto Hospital for about two weeks, however, and no visitors will be allowed to see him until tomorrow, it was said.

Coach "Tiny" Thornhill moved Joe Vigna into Alustiza's right halfback position and announced that his choice was a permanent one. The Stanford coach is satisfied that Vigna is the best player available for the job.

Stanford has an open date Saturday—which is fortunate for the Indians. Keith Topping and "Monk" Moscrip, ends and "Bones" Hamilton, halfback, may not recover from injuries received last Saturday until next week.

'DISASTER' UNDAUNTS CITY

Power Failure, False Alarm Aid Confusion

BUT EMERGENCY IS WELL MET

It wasn't an earthquake, fire, hurricane or war that struck Redwood City last night. But the response to a disaster call which was preceded by 35 minutes of darkness and was interrupted by a fire alarm gave ample proof that in event of a major emergency this city would be prepared.

The darkness, which occurred when at 6:45 p.m. power went off suddenly and without warning, and the alarm, which took all firemen and trucks and some of the disaster committee racing to Roosevelt and Ramona streets only to find they had answered the second false alarm within 24 hours, were unscheduled.

Failure of the power, Pacific Gas and Electric Company Superintendent L. E. Wolbert explained, was due to a switch failure at the Marsh road substation in Redwood City.

Caused by a breakdown of material over which the power firm had no control, the failure resulted in a fire damaging the switch and inside of the station to the extent of approximately $1500, Wolbert estimated. The blaze, which burned oil, insulation, wiring, rubber, paper and other articles, was extinguished by employes.

The entire district from Belmont to Atherton, East Palo Alto and Woodside was affected, but Redwood City bore the brunt of the trouble, the other communities not being without light so long as this city. Radio Station KPO, with transmitter at Belmont, was off the air for only 15 seconds or so, Wolbert reported.

HAILED AS SUCCESS

As far as the disaster practice was concerned, it was a "complete success," according to Fire Chief Mark E. Ryan, Mayor Charles Lambert, and others.

The nine blasts of the fire whistle sounded at 7:20 p.m. after Mayor Lambert had telephoned the firehouse from Hotel Sequoia that the time, set for October 16, 17 or 18, between 7 and 9 p.m., had arrived.

He then hurried across the street to the previously selected site for temporary emergency city hall and Red Cross headquarters, only to find that Miss Rosella Milam and Mrs. George Drivon, Red Cross workers, were already on the scene. They had been walking in the vicinity and when they heard the first blast of the whistle, hurried to the corner, arriving almost before the mayor could hang up the telephone receiver.

CROWDS POUR IN

Then firemen, police, veterans, doctors, scouts, city officials, service club members, an ambulance, power and telephone company employes and others began pouring in at once from every direction.

Within a few minutes, all five city fire trucks were lined up on Broadway, and firemen were erecting a 10x12-foot wooden building for headquarters of the mayor, acting as generalissimo of the disaster committee, city manager, street and water, fire, police and health departments; and four tents each equipped with blanketed cots for temporary hospitals.

Hardly had the tents been set up when the fire whistle blew at 7:40 o'clock and spectators were treated to seeing Fire Chief Ryan, Police Chief C. L. Collins, and their forces swing into action. Unscheduled, because of the unnecessary risks entailed, the alarm nevertheless proved a valuable, practical part of the demonstration.

DEMONSTRATIONS GIVEN

After their return from the futile chase, firemen gave demonstrations of hose laying, wall scaling, and fire fighting of all kinds before the practice was declared at an end almost exactly an hour after the alarm had been turned in.

Firemen also equipped the temporary headquarters with a fire alarm system and electric lights.

Responding to the call were 37 Legionnaires; 20 Legion auxiliary members; some 50 Veterans of Foreign Wars; approximately 25 V.F.W. auxiliaryites; 20 firemen's wives and Red Cross workers; 48 of the 54 volunteer firemen; all 10 police officers; Western Union, Pacific Gas and Electric Company and Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company employes; Health Inspector I. C. Drathman; County Health Director Charles C. Gans; Survey Committeeman Fred Crumb; Rescue Committeeman H. Stephens; Medical Committeeman Dr. J. N. Blood; Shelter Committeeman Z. T. Thorning; Food Committeeman William Hohn; Transportation-Communication Committeeman Henry Edmonds; Registration-Information Committeeman Floyd Granger; Fund Raising-Information Committeeman J. E. Morrish; Red Cross Committeemen Mrs. May Schmidt and Mrs. Z. T. Thorning; City Manager Rolison; several city councilmen, Layng & Tinney's ambulance; Lions, Kiwanis, Exchange and chamber of commerce members; Girl, Boy and Sea Scouts; Spanish-American War veterans; Woman's Relief Corps members; and many others.

LAMBERT EXPLAINS HOUR

In explaining how he chose last night for the practice, Mayor Lambert said:

"No one knew of the time of the call except myself. I thought that since I would be at a meeting of the California League of Municipalities in Palo Alto tonight, and if I let it go until tomorrow everyone would know that would be the time, we should have the call last night.

"The lights going off was incidental—or rather, I guess, accidental. I first thought it might be a good idea to have the 'disaster' during the period of darkness, but I feared there might be an accident risk because of the lack of street lights.

"Everybody responded in a splendid manner to the call. All on the list checked in.

"It goes to show once again the efficiency of the Redwood City Fire Department and how it could be depended upon if an emergency should occur.

"I recall the chaos resulting from the 1906 disaster. No one knew where he was or what it was all about.

"Such a scene would not be repeated now."

CHIEF THANKED WORKERS

Fire Chief Ryan praised the "co-operation from the veterans, doctors, Red Cross, police and all the organizations, groups and individuals who helped in the practice," and extended them his thanks for assistance.

Last year's disaster call was set for a definite time and place, but to lend more realism to the practice, the time of this year's annual call was left more or less to speculation, and entirely within control of Mayor Lambert.

M. P. Man Acquitted On Double Charge

Leo Quinn of Menlo Park, arrested September 30 on hit-run and driving while intoxicated charges, was acquitted on both counts last night by a jury in Judge Edward I. McAuliffe's court after a one-day hearing.

STORIES IN STAMPS

By I. S. Klein

ENGINEER of THE REVOLUTION

WEST POINT and many of the other fortifications along the Hudson are products of the engineering genius of a Polish patriot. He was Tadeusz Kosciuszko, who on Oct. 13, 1783, was made a U. S. citizen by act of Congress, was brevetted a brigadier-general, was made a member of the Order of Cincinnatus, and voted thanks.

Born to wealth and prominence, the adventurous Kosciuszko came to America and volunteered for service in the Revolution. His brilliance as a military engineer won favor with General Washington.

After the war, he returned to Poland and there joined in the Revolution of 1791, that made Poland a limited monarchy. He was taken prisoner by the Russians and released in 1796, when he revisited America. He died in 1817.

Both Poland and the United States honor Kosciuszko in stamps. The U. S. issue of 1933, on the 150th anniversary of his citizenship, pictures his statue in Lafayette Park, Washington.

$1000 Fiesta Surplus Denied By Roberts

Elmer Roberts, treasurer of the San Mateo County Floral and Products Fiesta committee today, repudiated reports that the fiesta had resulted in a $1000 surplus. Final results were still coming in, he declared, and complete figures as to a possible surplus or deficit would not be known for at least three or four days.

Tax Levy Increase Equal to Average

San Mateo county's 7.14 per cent increase in its tax levy for the coming year is exactly the same as the state average, according to figures received here today from State Controller Ray L. Riley.

All but six of the state's 58 counties increased their tax levies, according to the survey.

Atherton Home Fire Loss Set at $10,000

Damages to Mrs. Cutler Bonestell's Atherton home which burned Saturday and to Caretaker Dominick Tanzi's furniture and personal effects will total nearly $10,000, Tanzi said today following a visit of insurance adjustors to the scene of the fire at Alameda de las Pulgas and Stockton avenue. The blaze, according to Tanzi, apparently started from defective wiring. During the fire the water boiler exploded, tearing sections from the roof of the seven-room shingle home.

Insurance totaling approximately $5,500 was carried on the house and its contents.

M. P. Man Burned In Gasoline Blast

Burns on his right hand and singed eyebrows were suffered by W. H. A. Forbes, 55, of 17th avenue, Menlo Park, at 10 a.m. Tuesday when gasoline which had been spilled on the motor of his car after the tank had been overflowed exploded.

The accident happened at the Oil Well Service Station on Middlefield road at Redwood avenue. It was said a match caused the explosion.

The injured man was rushed to the Redwood City firehouse first aid station by Police Chief C. L. Collins, where his wounds were treated.

Townsend Groups To Hear Fulcher

SAN MATEO, Oct. 14. — State Area Manager Ralph Fulcher will be the speaker Saturday at a joint meeting and election of the San Mateo and Burlingame Townsend Clubs.

With Capt. E. L. Norberg presiding, delegates to the national Townsend convention, to be held October 25 to 27 in Chicago, will be elected. The meeting will be in the Burlingame city hall at 8 o'clock.

EXPERT URGES BUS SERVICE OVER BRIDGE

Claims Deficit, Taxes Could Be Avoided By Motor System

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 17 (UP)—Installation of bus transportation across the Golden Gate bridge and construction of adequate and properly situated approach arteries was urged here as a method of avoiding a bridge deficit and subsequent taxation of bridge district residents.

The recommendations were contained in a survey report of Sydney W. Taylor Jr., bridge traffic expert.

Taxpayers probably will not have to be asked for support if proper revenue is obtained from bus service and a direct outlet into the Sacramento valley, a four-lane Waldo approach and a Bay street feeder to the bridge are constructed, he said.

Taylor said at least $200,000 a year revenue should be derived from operations of a bus system across the span. He urged the bridge district to move immediately for bus operation until Marin commuters make operations of light weight trains possible.

Missing P. A. Hunter Is Found Unharmed

Missing since Sunday, Marion Cavitt, 35-year-old Palo Alto bookkeeper, was found in the mountains east of Oroville late Monday only three miles from his camp in the Brush Creek region of the Sierras.

Cavitt had disappeared from his hunting party when he became separated from his companion, Walter Irvine Jr. of Yuba City. He was unharmed when found.

Meanwhile, another hunter, Amos Cruickshank, 70, of Santa Ana, was the object of an extensive search southwest of Lassen Volcano National Park, where a driving rainstorm hindered rescuers.

P. O. REMOVAL BRINGS PLANS FOR OFFICES

Several Thousand See Federal Building At 'Open House'

With removal of the Redwood City postoffice to its new Jefferson avenue location near Broadway accomplished over the week-end, plans were being made today to equip the old building on Middlefield road for a county office building, according to County Manager Walter T. Kellogg.

After an afternoon and evening of "open house" at the new postoffice, Postmaster R. E. O'Connell Jr. and his aides, assisted by the Bray Transfer Company, moved all mail and equipment from the old structure Sunday.

Several thousand Redwood City residents took advantage of the open house Saturday, and until 9:45 p.m. visitors were shown through the plant, and operations of the mail service were explained.

Final inspection of the building by postoffice department officials is expected within the next 10 days, after which Federal Engineer John B. Lammers, who was in charge of construction of the new building, will be transferred, to a destination not yet disclosed.

Already the health department has occupied its new quarters in the old postoffice building. The purchasing department has been housed there since the first of the year. The engineering, planning, and several other departments will be moved to the building when alterations are completed.

A Finnish scientist is said to have increased garden vegetables, fruit and grain crops 51 per cent by electrifying the soil in which they were grown.

SUPERVISORS AVER STORIES DO INJUSTICE

But Dunn, Publisher, Says Press Often Spares Board

That the press stories printed about the supervisors' meetings every Monday were "incorrect" and "unfair" was charged at a meeting of the Coastside Civic Union Tuesday by Supervisor Albert Witt Jr., Colma, and County Executive Walter Kellogg.

But George Dunn, Half Moon Bay publisher, who attended the meeting, arose to the defense of the press and asserted that more often than not the stories were written to lessen the controversies which actually took place and were not exaggerated, he said.

Witt and Kellogg next turned their guns of attack on County Engineer Carl Scott and charged that he assertedly was "inefficient."

Kellogg told the gathering that his purpose in securing the services of Urban S. Marshall, former Piedmonter now residing here, was to get an outsider who had not had contacts with either former County Engineers George Kneese or James S. James.

Assurance was given the Coastsiders that Harry Cole and associates intend to proceed with the rehabilitation of the Ocean Shore railroad.

Manuel Francis, coast representative, told the gathering that the Ocean Shore highway district recently had turned $125,000 over to the state for work on the coast road.

RITES SET FOR TOMORROW

BURLINGAME, Oct. 14.—Funeral services will be held here at 8:30 a. m. tomorrow for John T. B. Perry, father of Mrs. Arthur O'Leary, from whose residence at 1448 Vancouver avenue the rites will be held. Perry died yesterday.

A New Orleans family returned from a night at the movies to discover that during their absence a 15-foot magnolia tree had been dug up and removed from their yard.

Savings Revealed In Centralization Of Road Control

Savings of approximately 15 per cent in maintenance of San Mateo county roads have been effected by centralization of control of all the roads under the engineering department, a compilation completed today by County Engineer Carl R. Scott reveals.

During the six years prior to 1933, a total of $1,706,810.74 was spent for maintenance of the roads, an average of $284,470 a year, according to Scott. Since then, when the five road districts were consolidated by the charter into one district and under the supervision of the engineer, the expenditures have been as follows: 1933-34, $245,610; 1934-35, $241,611; 1935-36 (estimated), $242,250.

All funds since the consolidation have been derived from gasoline and motor vehicle taxes, no road taxes having been levied, Scott reported. Between 1927 and 1933, $217,619.19 in road tax funds for construction purposes had been raised, he said.

JENKINS' JOB MADE SECURE BY NEW BOND

8 Firms Will Furnish $100,000 Surety For Treasurer

By securing a new $100,000 corporate bond from eight firms to replace the $150,000 surety ordered cancelled by the state appellate court, Treasurer Harry Jenkins will hold on to his county position, he disclosed today.

The official said the bond, to be furnished by the corporations with each taking $12,500, was being written in San Francisco, and would be filed with Recorder T. C. Rice within the next few days.

Tuesday was the last day for the official to file the bond under terms of the appellate court's order releasing the American Employers Insurance Company from liability, but attorneys for that firm granted sufficient extension to take care of Jenkins until the new bond can be written, he said.

The new smaller bond was approved several months ago by the board of supervisors.

'Amateur Hour' For Fete Here Being Planned

"Mayor Charlie Lambert's Amateur Hour" will be one of the star attractions of the annual fall festival of the First Congregational Church Wednesday and Thursday, November 6 and 7, it was announced today.

Redwood City's "Major Bowes" invites amateur performers to secure application blanks at the Lambert office, 2013 Broadway, before October 21.

Another feature will be the presentation of selections from the famous operetta, "The Desert Song," by the orchestra and chorus of the Fellowship of Youth, with William Dusel and Charles Wood as soloists.

The choral unit of the Redwood City Woman's Club will appear as guest artists with the Congregational choir in a semi-popular concert directed by Mr. and Mrs. Herman Phillips.

A new and unique presentation at the afternoon session is scheduled as "Tiny Tot's Fashion Parade," devised and directed by Mrs. Peirce Coombes and Mrs. Charles Huyck.

A variety of booths will offer the work of the Plymouth Guild and the Woman's Circle, with Christmas gifts.

Lunch, dinner and afternoon tea will be served both days in the Palm court, while the "fun booths" will be managed by the Fellowship of Youth, the Pioneers, and the organized Bible school classes.

Weird Distribution Of Rainfall Reported

Weird distribution of the rainfall which early yesterday morning deluged Redwood City was disclosed today by Mayor Asa Hull of San Carlos.

At his home a gauge registered 1.85 inches of rain in the brief downpour. Three blocks away, at the Spring Valley water pumps, a gauge showed 2.21 inches of rain.

San Mateo reported .08 inches of rain and Redwood City .78, but Lake Pilarcitos, which usually, according to Hull, has twice as much rain as any other site in the county, had only .15 inches of rain.

DEMOCRATIC WOMEN MEET

Claude Hershey, chairman of the Democratic organization of San Mateo county, spoke on the outlook for the coming political campaign when he appeared as guest speaker at a meeting of the Democratic Women's Club of Lomita Park held Tuesday at the home of Mrs. Rey Meyer.

Injuries Suffered By Six Motorists During Rainstorm

Early morning accidents in the rain Tuesday brought injuries to two Redwood City residents, three Hillsborough people and one San Franciscan.

Albert Pinotti, 1605 Redwood avenue, Redwood City, suffered an injured left arm and Mrs. Pinotti incurred facial cuts when their car and one driven by Mrs. Roy Barnes, 570 Madison street, Redwood City, collided at 6 o'clock at the Adams and Jefferson intersection. The Pinotti car was overturned by the impact. The injured people were treated by local doctors.

Morris A. Rothschild suffered possible internal injuries, and his brother, Edwin; Robert J. Koshland, 41, former county relief assistant, and Thomas McGuire, 50, of San Francisco, slight injuries when Koshland and McGuire's machines collided headon in the rain at the intersection of El Camino Real and Junipero Serra in the north end of the county. The Rothschilds are nephews of Dr. Max Rothschild of Hillsborough. They were riding with Koshland. The seriously injured man was taken to the South San Francisco Hospital.

Hunter Services Set By Oakland Masons

Memorial services for Robert S. Hunter Sr., who died suddenly here Saturday, are to be held tomorrow at 2 p. m. at the Chapel of the Chimes, 4499 Piedmont avenue, Oakland, under auspices of Durant Lodge of Masons.

Hunter, a native of Illinois, is survived by his widow, Elsie, and three sons, Robert S. Jr., William H. and Marion Hunter. He was the son of Mrs. William Harvey Hunter and brother of Mrs. Caroline H. Plumb.

Your Newspaper--- 'A Leading Citizen'

One of the functions of your newspaper goes far beyond the mere gathering and printing of thenewspaper. It is, in a sense, the custodian of the "civic conscience" of your community.

The story of journalism in America teems with examples of public service rendered unselfishly—and sometimes at great peril—in arousing the civic conscience to the need of action, against anti-social or unscrupulous moves.

ONLY your newspaper can do this. Its right to freedom is guaranteed in the Constitution—that it may ever speak out, regardless of fear or favor. And from this has grown a tradition highly upheld throughout the land.

That is why you can TRUST your newspaper. Individual differences of opinion are threshed out in public by means of it. Crusades and reforms are initiated by it—yet it is not a reform agency.

Advertisements appearing in it too, are subjected to measurement against ever higher standards. They are the business news of the day, and by their appearance they share in its high calling.

Yes, your newspaper is "a leading citizen"—friend, counsellor and guide. It stands for light—knowledge—certainty—in a world otherwise lost for lack of knowledge.

Read your newspaper more thoroughly—know it, trust it, call on it to fulfill its role as a "leading citizen." It will not fail you.

Know Your Newspaper.
